ATTORNEY R. R. HORNER DELIVERS THE ADDRESS—A BRILLIANT EPOCH.

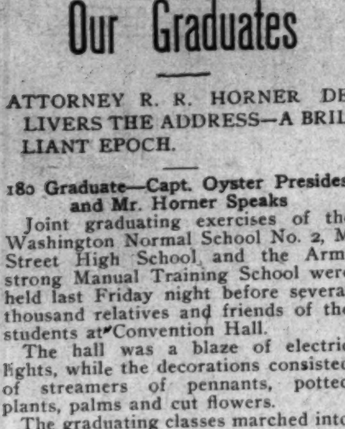
180 Graduate—Capt. Oyster Presides, and Mr. Horner Speaks

Joint graduating exercises of the Washington Normal School No. 2, M Street High School and the Armstrong Manual Training School were held last Friday night before several thousand relatives and friends of the students at Convention Hall.

The hall was a blaze of electric lights, while the decorations consisted of streamers of pennants, potted plants, palms and cut flowers.

The graduating classes marched into the hall and occupied seats on a raised platform on the east side of the hall. As soon as they had been seated members of the board of education, principals of the schools and the speakers took seats on the front of the platform.

The exercises opened with a selection by a section of the United States Marine Band, under the leadership of Lieut. W. H. Santelmann. The band also rendered selections throughout the evening. Capt. James F. Oyster, president of the board of education, presided, and made an address of welcome. Rev. J. H. Van Schaick, pastor of the Universalist Church, pronounced the invocation.



CAPT. JAMES F. OYSTER

Address to Graduates.

The address to the graduates was delivered by Richard R. Horner of the board of education.

"Ten millions of our people who were but yesterday slaves, whose ancestors were taken by force from their native land and transported to these cold and hostile shores to become articles of commerce," he said, "are today struggling for a place of honor among this mighty people that held them in bondage less than fifty years ago.

"By reason of the peculiar construction of American institutions we are forced to enter into competition with this strong and intellectual race, which, in the progressive attainments of civilization, is centuries in advance of us. Handicapped as we are, nevertheless, we are part and parcel of the American people, and though retarded by inheritance and training, and rendered weaker thereby, we are, to a very great extent, thrown upon our own resources as a race and must of necessity rely upon our own effort to accomplish the best results in the onward progress of the nation.

"The race must no longer expect others to carry its burdens. In this strictly commercial age, when men and nations are struggling to reach the top with all the ability, cunning and energy at their command, there is very little time for sentiment, and the weaker brother must develop strength or go to the wall.

"The law of the survival of the fittest sounds harsh and cruel, but it is logical and just. The other race in this country has its own burdens, and we should not expect its members to assume those belonging to us that we ourselves should carry. A race is made strong by bearing its own burdens and solving its own great problems.

Social Status of Race.

"Nor should we be unmindful of the fact that the social status of a race, like that of an individual, adjusts itself in conformity to the surrounding conditions. The social intercourse between two races or among members of the same race is not regulated by law. No statute making men socially equal ever has been in operation or ever will be. When men of the same race or of different races measure up to the adopted standard of honor, education and courtesy the standard of the best all around development the question of equality never arises."

Excerpts From the Address Delivered by Richard R. Horner at the Joint Commencement Exercises of M Street High School, Armstrong Manual Training School and Normal School No. 2, at Convention Hall, Friday, June 17, 1910.

Ten millions of our people who were but yesterday slaves, whose ancestors were taken by force from their native land and transported to these cold and hostile shores to become articles of commerce, are to-day struggling for a place of honor among this mighty people that held them in bondage less than fifty years ago.

By reason of the peculiar construction of American institutions we are forced to enter into competition with this strong and intellectual race, which, in the progressive attainments of civilization, is centuries in advance of us. Handicapped as we are, nevertheless we are part and parcel of the American people; and though retarded by inheritance and training, and rendered weaker thereby, we are to a very great extent, thrown upon our own resources as a race, and must, of necessity, rely upon our own efforts to accomplish the best results in the onward progress of the nation.

Being Americans fully identified with the highest development of American institutions, we necessarily partake of their virtues and of their vices.

Our status as a race must of necessity be determined by the highest ideals of the country in which we live. It then follows that our civilization can be no other than that of the people with whom we are identified; and our status must be determined by the highest type of citizenship represented by these people.

Bound together by the ties of one and the same brotherhood of American citizenship; inspired by the same virtues, and retarded by the same vices; governed by the same laws and instiutions, we are firmly rooted to the American soil and shall continue so.

It is upon this soil, consecrated to liberty by the blood of its martyrs that the colored race must work out its destiny. By its individual efforts

East Orange High School Class Calls Off Its Dance—Rumor Afloat That New Date Will be Set and Neither of the Colored Girls Invited.

East Orange, N. J., June 20.—The problem of the color line, in so far as it applied to the dance of the seniors of the East Orange High School, was solved to-day by the cancellation of the dance, which was to have been held on Friday night at the Women's Club of Orange. It was rumored that the cancellation of the date was only a ruse to deceive the Misses Vandervall, colored. That the dance will be held at some other time or place, and that the colored girls will be designedly forgotten when the new invitations are sent out, is the belief of a great many who are not admitted to the inner councils of the class. The Vandervall girls had nothing to say on the matter when it was put before them.

The insistence of the colored girls in their rights to attend the dance in spite of the unwillingness of the young social lights of the class to let them in caused more than a mild stir last week. The tickets were all distributed on Monday, with the exception of those which should have been given to the Vandervalls. They made a demand for them, and succeeded two days later in getting one ticket for Isabel Vandervall. The second was withheld on the ground that Irene Vandervall, though graduating this year, was not a member of the class and could not lay claim to a ticket. She was dropped last year from 1909 class. Irene was not admitted to any of the festivities of the last year because of being so dropped on account of failure in some of her studies, so she demands recognition this year.

Her father, James N. Vandervall, who has just sold out a carpet cleaning business, publicly announced last week that he was going to get that second ticket, and the members of the class who objected to the young women just as stoutly maintained that he was not. In stood that way to-day, when the unexpected announcement that the dance was to be canceled reached the Women's Club. The high school pupils claim that they would have made no objection to the Vandervall girls had they not made it known that they intended to exercise their full rights and bring escorts of their own race. First the white pupils tried to buy off the colored pupils, and then they sought to keep their tickets from them, with the result that much talk ensued.

Proclamation!

There having come, from time to time, letters of inquiry from several parts of the United States, touching one John A. Bell, Esqr., 218 James street, Grand Rapids, Michigan, U. S. A., as to his being commissioned Deputy of the Grand Lodge, F. A. & A. M. of Liberia, with a view to organizing lodges in United States, the matter claimed our attention.

Such an office is unknown in the history of Liberian Masonry, there having never arisen a necessity for such an office; and we are too well acquainted with the principles of Freemasonry to intrude into foreign jurisdictions where Freemasonry is known and practiced. The Grand Secretary was therefore authorized and did communicate with the said Mr. Bell, under date October 27, 1909, A. L. 5909, informing him that the Grand Lodge of Liberia does not recognize such an office nor him as holding such, and that there is no record of such an appointment having ever been created; he was also directed in said letter from the Grand Secretary to immediately and forthwith desist from announcing, proclaiming, professing and exercising such an office in the name of Liberian Freemasonry in Michigan or any other State of the United States.

It still appearing from more recent letters which have been received that the said Mr. Bell is still assuming the above named title in the name of the Grand Lodge of F. A. & A. M. of Liberia; therefore:

I, Abraham B. Stubblefield, Most Worshipful Grand Master of the Grand Lodge F. A. & A. M. of Liberia to hereby proclaim and declare to the various Masonic Jurisdictions of the United States of America that one John Bell, Esqr., of 218 James street, Grand Rapids, Michigan, U. S. A., announcing, proclaiming and professing himself to be some sort of a deputy of the Grand Lodge of Liberia is not such having never been lawfully created and has no right to act in said capacity.

Done in Monrovia, Liberia, this 16th day of May, 1910, A. L. 5910, and of this Jurisdiction the 43rd.

Attest:

Abraham B. Stubblefield,
Grand Master.

Nathaniel H. B. Cassell,
Grand Secretary.

It does not lie in the wearing qualities, surely not in the style and fit. CURIOUS PROCEDURE AFTER RESIGNATION

Deliberation 26 Days and Then Dismissal.

Washington, D. C., May 12, 1910.
Captain Michael Byrnes,
6th. Police Precinct, Commanding.

Sir: I have the honor to hand you my resignation as Rail Road Crossing Policeman for transmittal to the Honorable Commissioners of the District of Columbia.

In so doing I take this opportunity to express to you the high regard in which I hold you as a man, an executive officer, and above all, a superior officer, who has both the welfare of the public and his subordinates at heart. In the three years and more which I have served under you I have yet to note the first sign of discord or discontent among the men of your command. This condition in your precinct being in great contrast to the conditions existing in the precinct in which I served eight years prior to my coming to the Sixth.

If comparisons are permissible, I would compare the workings of that precinct, to yours, as I would a threshing machine to a Waltham watch—your precinct working as accurately and noiselessly as the watch.

It is with regret that I sever my connections with the Sixth Police Precinct in which I met so many manly policemen.

I have the honor to remain,
Respectfully yours,
ROBT. L. WARING,
609 F St., N. W.

Washington, D. C., May 12, 1910.
To the Honorable Commissioners of the District of Columbia, through
Captain Michael Byrnes,
6th. Police Precinct, Commanding.

Gentlemen: I have the honor to herewith hand you my resignation as Rail Road Crossing Policeman, stationed at Seventh and F streets, Northwest, to take effect forthwith, for the following reasons.

I was appointed to the above position July 9, 1899, and have since served continuously, having in the meantime been transferred twice.

About the middle of March last on two occasions I was found off my post by inspectors. First time, thirty seven minutes; (fifteen minutes of which time I was allowed off by General Orders) and twelve minutes at another time. I was off for reasons over which I had no control—but my corner was covered, however, on both occasions by the regular man on the beat. (It has been the custom for ten years and more, and still is the custom, for a Rail Road Crossing policeman to leave his post when covered as mine was.)

About April 1st. or 2nd. following I was called to Police Headquarters, without any previous knowledge as to what was to be required of me, and tried for this offence (?). Two weeks later I was again called to Headquarters and questioned relative to some articles of recent date that appeared over my signature in the Washington Bee, pertaining to matters foreign to the District of Columbia and matters over which the Police Department has no jurisdiction.

Three weeks later or after a lapse of seven weeks after this fault-finding, I am fined $5 and transferred.

I do not now know nor was I ever informed as to that for which I have been adjudged guilty.

But this is in keeping with the ceaseless, senseless system of nagging that has grown up in the Police Department in the past few years, and which has resulted in the killing of one high police official and which, if persisted in, may result in the killing of another, unless some person, high in authority puts a stop to it. And no jury in this District will convict a man of first degree murder who does the killing, as was evidenced by the final outcome of the case above mentioned, which case on its face bore all the attributes of a cold-blooded murder.

It is astounding to me that those in high authority in this District are ignorant of the views and opinions, as to police officials and inspectors, held by the rank and file of Washington's citizens.

Should your Honorable Board conclude that I have been fined and transferred for cause, I will forward my check under protest, for the above amount.

Three garments have been ordered for me by the Police Department. Dress coat, blouse, and pants. The blouse being of the new style of the summer garment, made of lighter material, less lining, no difference in cut or collar from the old style blouse, but having one button more—at an increased cost to the men of nearly $1 over the older and heavier garment. I shall pay for this blouse, at the increased price only when compelled to do so.

Knowing as I do that this offence (?) is the pretext and not the cause for my fine and transfer, which took effect May 7, 1910, I respectfully request that this resignation be acted upon immediately as I wish to sever all connection with the Police Department of this District as soon as possible, so that I may place before the public my experiences of a decade in the police service of this City.

I have the honor to remain,
Respectfully yours,
ROBT. L. WARING,
609 F St., N. W.

Trade's Talons Not to Grip Famous Champs Elysees.

Not Even a Philharmonic Palace Will Be Tolerated on Proud Paris Thoroughfare and Children's Paradise Along Its Course.

Paris.—The probability that the Champs Elysees, the noblest avenue in the world, will always be preserved as an artistic promenade and a children's paradise has been strengthened by action just taken by the municipal council of Paris. The council not only refused to grant a permit for the construction of a Philharmonic palace on the site of the now defunct summer circus, but voted to investigate concessions previously granted, looking to the removal of some of the music halls and restaurants now flourishing there.

This official action is in keeping with the true Parisian spirit. The one occasion on which the Frenchman looses his pursestrings without a murmur is when an expenditure for municipal embellishment is proposed. No other city watches over the beauty of its boulevards and parks with such jealous care. Succeeding municipal administrations differ widely on all other points, but, whether the government is nationalist or socialist, its first aim is invariably to maintain intact the artistic inheritance of Europe's most beautiful capital.

There was almost a revolt, 12 years ago, when a tramway company asked a concession for a track across the avenue in a side street. This right was finally bestowed but had the council granted a subsequent application for a track along the Champs Elysees itself the lives of the city legislators would have been threatened by an aroused populace.

The single track across the driveway has always been regarded as a scar. It is not improbable that in a few years the tramway company will be required to construct a tunnel beneath the surface of the street. It is by underground passages that the city already is proposing to handle the foot traffic without interfering with the perpetual stream of vehicles or marring the beauty of the thoroughfare through the construction of viaducts. The first of these subterranean passages, leading from side to side of the Avenue des Champs Elysees, has only recently been opened. If this proves as popular as is expected other such tunnels will be constructed under other busy tsreets, notably the grand boulevards.

The parkway known as the Champs Elysees, or Elysian Fields, was laid out near the end of the seventeenth century. It was called the Grand Cours at first and was given its present name in the time of Louis XVI. The avenue itself is more than a mile long and is lined from the Place de la Concorde to the Arc de Triomphe, with pine, lime and chestnut trees. The promenade is the favorite afternoon drive of the fashionable world of Paris and it is there that the badaud, or French cockney, is seen to perfection. On one side is a park, 750 yards long and 40 wide, which is filled with cafes chantants and such amusements and amusement-providers for children as jugglers, marionettes, merry-go-rounds and chocolate venders. Here idolizing parents stand for hours watching their petit bonhommes caracolling on wooden horses, while la bonne, in a snowy cap, holds the babies.

At night the thoroughfare, brilliantly illuminated, offers a vivid suggestion of fairyland.

The Avenues des Champs Elysees is one of the "lungs" of Paris. At each end and all about it are places of importance in the life and history of the city and the state. It almost skirts the River Seine, the Grand Palais and the Petit Palais, where there are great art exhibitions, separating the park from the quays at one point. An avenue starting at the Champs Elysees, between the two buildings, crosses the river on the beautiful Pont Alexandre III. and leads to Napoleon's tomb.

On the opposite side of the Champs Elysees is the Palais de l'Elysees, the official residence of the president of France. It was once the home of Mme. de Pompadour and was occupied in later years, successively, by Murat, Napoleon I., Louis Bonaparte and Queen Hortense, Emperor Alexander I. and Duc de Berri.

The throngs of motorists, carriage drivers, horse riders and bicyclists who visit the Bois de Boulogne traverse the Avenues des Champs Elysees first. Beyond the Arc the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne leads up past Princess de Sagan's pink marble palace to the famous woods.

HISTORIC VIRGINIA HOME.

House Where George Washington's Mother Lived and Died at Fredericksburg Still Standing.

Washington.—Not many tourists visit the house in which the mother of George Washington lived and died in Fredericksburg, Va. The Washingtons, or the branch of that large Washington family which played so great a role in American history, left the Pope's Creek's farm, later called "Wakefield," in Westmoreland county, about three years after the birth of George Washington. The family removed to another Washington farm in Stafford county on the north bank of the Rappanhannock river, opposite Fredericksburg. It was there that much of the boyhood of Washington was spent. It was there that the mythical exploits of chooping down the cherry tree, etc., were performed.

After George Washington and his brothers had left this farm and after the marriage of Betty Washington to Maj. Fielding Lewis of Fredericksburg, Mrs. Mary Washington bought a cottage in Fredericksburg, close to "Kenmore," the home of her daughter, and resided there many years. She died in that cottage August 25, 1789.

The cottage is a plain two-story frame dwelling standing at the corner of Charles and Lewis streets—two village streets deep in dust or mud according to the weather. The house is heavily shaded by old sycamore trees and is furnished with Washington and other Virginia relics. It is owned and cared for by the Society for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities. The superintendent is R. C. Beals, who, with his wife, occupies the house.

The big living room on the ground floor and to the left of the entrance is that in which Mrs. Washington died. As nearly as possible it is preserved as Mrs. Washington kept it. A rare old mahogany tester bed stands on that part of the floor where stood Mrs. Washington's bed. The original bed is owned by a member of the Washington family. The walls are lined with steel engravings which belonged to Mrs. Washington, and some of these were her property when she was Mary Ball, before her marriage to Augustine Washington, and came from her girlhood's home, "Epping Forest," in Lancaster county, about thirty miles from Fredericksburg. The room in the rear of this living and sleeping room was the dining-room, and the same table around which the Washingtons ate stands in the middle of the floor. The dining-room is bare of carpets or rugs and was in Mrs. Washington's time. The furnishings are plain and simple.

Bullfrogs a Campaign Issue.

Howell, Ind.—Bullfrogs are a live political issue in Howell, which is surrounded by ponds teeming with frogs. Apparently he will be elected.

Work of Practical Joker.

The Corriere of Rome, which published some time ago a copy of a document said to have been found in the library at Bergamo containing an account of "an airship voyage across the English channel in 1751," is receiving much attention at the hands of investigators. In the Tribune's notice of this alleged achievement, in which a monk named Grimaldi, of Civita Vecchia, was the chief actor, it was stated that there was nothing in the Italian paper's article to indicate that it was not written in good faith. "Now," writes an Englishman from Rome, "the records of Civita Vecchia are being searched in vain for a Grimaldi and the papers of England for a story of the flight. The document may be in the library, but who was the practical joker who placed it there?" —New York Tribune.

Wireless Telephone on Warships.

According to daily press reports wireless telephony has not proved an unqualified success on the battleship fleet. It was imposible to send messages over any great distance except under the most favorable conditions and when the telephone was in use the telegraph had to keep silent.

False Doctrine.

The late Dr. Theodore Wolf, professor of chemistry at Delaware college, set officeholders a rare example of unselfishness by having his fees as state chemist greatly reduced on the ground that they were exorbitant.

"Dr. Wolf," said a Newark man, "was a delightful lecturer. I often dropped into the college to hear him. I'll never forget one of his lectures on quack medicines.

"He told us about an early patient of his, a man who dosed himself with about a half-peck of pills and two or three gallons of quack medicine every week.

"There was nothing the matter with the fool, but all this silly medicine swilling, and Dr. Wolf told him so, but it did no good.

"Then Dr. Wolf appealed to the man's wife to stop him, but she declared that it couldn't be done. She had quoted at him, again and again, she said, the verse in the liturgy that pointed out his sin, and—

"'But where,' interrupted Dr Wolf, bewildered, 'where does the liturgy say anything against taking quack medicine?'

Hot air was salable what a lot of merchants Washington would have.

Knocking was a profession what a lot of graduates this town could furnish.

All office holders had been as provident as Dancy retiring from office would not be a terrible blow.

Jim Cobb does not get married before this year is out he will be placed in the "undesirable class."

Some colored men only knew their limitations what a lot of trouble would be saved the appointing power.

The School Board is to furnish commencement orators from its own membership for the colored schools half the interest and pleasure of commencement exercises will be lost.

Ralph Tyler controlled all the newspapers he is charged with, and wrote all the matter he is accused of he would not have time to run his office, and would be bankrupt besides.

Lincoln Johnson took all the advice seriously that is offered him he would be a fit subject for St. Elizabeth before he had drawn two months' pay in his office.

Some of the assassins of men and women's character were hauled up in court, and made to pay the penalty for slander gossip around this berg would be greatly reduced.

Washington people compared the size, influence, standing and longevity of The Bee with some of the mushroom sheets that spring up here they would readily see that The Bee is "IT."

There are many colored families who are living in crowded houses on small plots of land in towns or cities who want real freedom and real opportunity for themselves and for their children. It is very difficult to rear children in a crowded town or city. The place to rear children is in the country.

In Macon County, Alabama, the colored people have a rare and exceptional opportunity. This is the county in which The Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute is located. There is plenty of good land for sale on easy terms. There is a good schoolhouse, and the school term lasting from seven to eight months in every part of the county. The white people in Macon County are of the very best class. There is no disorder or racial trouble. We advise colored people who are now living in crowded towns or cities, in the North or in the South, and especially those who have children to raise to come to Macon County and buy a home where they can get plenty of land to cultivate and rear their families in the county free from the temptations of the cities and towns.

WORTH ADVERTISING FOR

There are 5,499 Negroes employed here in Washington by the Government alone, and these 5,499 Negroes draw salaries aggregating $3,044,404. These more than three millions of dollars are spent right here in Washington, but scattered among the hundreds of tradesmen. Is this amount of money worth bidding for? It certainly is, and not even the largest stores in this city would refuse to get the big end of it did they but realize how much money the Negroes are really spending.

Now The Bee is the only Negro publication in this city. It stands without a rival or competitor, and covers the field like a few of the merchants in this city will patronize the advertising columns of The Bee, presenting the attractive bargains they may have, these Negroes — these 5,499 Negroes who draw annually from the Government over three millions of dollars — will assume that by patronizing a publication edited and operated by one of their race that such firms desire and deserve their patronage. And such firms will receive the bulk of these over thre milions of dollars received and spent by the Negroes of Washington.

What clothing stores, what furniture stores, what dry goods stores and what other lines of business will now make an effort to divert to themselves these over three millions of dollars spent by Washington Negroes by advertising in The Bee?

Place your advertising in The Bee and watch these 5,499 appreciative Negroes spend their over three millions of dollars with you.

Now is the time to advertise in The Bee, the newspaper that goes into every Negro home in Washington. Remember, merchants of Washington, it's what advertising pays you, not what it costs.

SCHOOL REPORTS.

The Bee, since the publication of the article written by ex-Trustee Henry Johnson, relative to omission of reports from the heads of the various departments in the annual report of the Board of Education of the work accomplished by the colored pupils, and the subsequent copious extracts from the report of Assistant Superintendent Bruce inferentially explanatory, has been deluged with requests for a bill of particulars. The Bee, in the interest of education, and as a friend of the Board of Education, deprecates anything calculated to impede the progress of the schools or that which in anyway is likely to embarrass those responsible for their management.

While that is true, it also recognizes that its obligations to the "people" whose children attends these schools is such that personal consideration is secondary to the general good. In that spirit, it deems it just and proper, when called upon, to furnish facts and facts only, bearing on any controvertable point. The issue raised by ex-Trustee Johnson was that the higher branches taught in the white schools received, in the annual report, full credit, while similar branches in the colored schools received no consideration whatever. In looking the matter up we find that up to the report in question, the colored schools received equal consideration with the whites, but, as stated by ex-Trustee Johnson, no mention or credit is given in the report of 1907-8. The immediate preceeding report, 1906-7, does full justice to the colored schools, special reports being printed from the various heads, among which are those from the M Street High School, Armstrong Manual Training, Kindergarten Department, Normal School No. 2, Attendance Officer and Assistant Director of Primary Instruction. We also earned that the heads of the various departments submitted their reports to Assistant Superintendent Bruce, which relieved them of any responsibility for their non-appearance in the annual report. The broad experience of Mr. Bruce as an educator, acquired at Harvard and Tuskegee, doubtless suggested to him the culling of the gems from the several reports and embodied them in a general report bearing his name as it would give more value and weight by his official signature attached thereto.

A WARNING TO WHITES.

That was a terrible warning Mr. E. W. Oyster gave the whites of Washington the other day, in speaking of the filthy alleys in Washington. And it was a terrible arraignment of the whites when he pointed out that 433 negro children out of every 1,000 born in the alleys, die before they are a year old. The conquests of war furnish no slaughter greater than this. Nearly twenty thousand negroes of Washington are forced, by race prejudice, to live in the unsanitary, filthy alleys of Washington. And in these alleys tuberculosis rides rampant, day and night, every day in the year, marshaling and spreading his contagion germs. Grim, relentless monster of death, every day in the year he ushers, before their time, scores of black souls into eternity, and when these poor souls take their leave from a city and a world that is pledged to handicap them from the cradle up, they leave behind, as if in awful retaliation, the inoculating germs that spread and spread, and, bursting through the filthy alley confines, enter the palatial homes of the rich, the very rich who own these foul tenement houses in the tuberculosis pregnated alleys. Many a promising white young man and woman, and many a baby of the rich white, becomes inoculated with the tuberculosis germs that infest the tenements back in the alleys where the negroes are forced to live. "The people who own property in these slums," said Mr. Oyster, "are selling their souls for cash. And the tragedy of it is they are selling the lives of their own carefully guarded children for cash." Just so. When the white people of this city awake to the awful fact that the unjust discrimination against the negroes, which forces nearly twenty thousand negroes to live in filthy, germ-infected alleys, they are not only sending hundreds of negro infants and adults to an untimely grave, but are also sending hundreds of their own flesh and blood as well, perhaps they will be appalled at the slaughter, and perhaps they will permit a little of the milk of human kindness and God's humanity to enter their souls and cease their discrimination against the negroes. With every 433 negro children out of a thousand who die under a year old, because forced to live in the slums, the alleys, 133 out of every 1,000 white babes are sent to join their black prototypes in the next world. Is not this a warning? Is not this a terrible arraignment?

EXPOSITION RESOLUTION.

The House, last Monday night, rejected the resolution of Congressmen Rodenberg and Taylor providing for a commission, and the appropriation of $5,000 for its expenses, to determine the advisability of holding an exposition commerorating the fifty years of freedom for the negroes of this country. While the House rejected the resolution, it does not spell defeat. The vote on the resolution Monday night was a vote as to whether or not it should be taken up out of its regular order and passed. As it is now, the House refused to take it up under a suspension of rules and pass it, and to have done this would have required a two-third vote. The vote recorded in its favor Monday night, 159 yeas to 87 nays, would pass it if up in its regular order. However, as it is so far down on the calendar, and as adjournment of Congress is now but a few days off, it is doubtful if the resolution can be reached this session. This is to be regretted by all negroes. There was a general interest, on the part of the race, in the passage of this resolution, and its ineffect defeat (for if not passed this session it is just the same as defeating it), will be regretted by all negroes from the lakes to the gulf, and from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

Action on the resolution Monday night was defeated by Democratic votes alone, although many Democrats, both from the South and North, voted in favor of taking it up and passing it at Monday night's session. But 87 Democratic votes were recorded against it. Congressmen Rodenberg, of Illinois, and Taylor, of Ohio, did yeoman work for the resolution, and their regret at its failure of passage is as sincere as the regret of the race it was thought to serve. And yet the great advocates want a division of the colored vote.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION.

The graduates of the colored public schools were addressed last Friday, June 17th, by Mr. R. R. Howard, member of the local Board and a member of the Board of Education. The speaker took the same position that The Bee has heretofore taken. The Bee believes, and has always believed, that colored Americans should pay as much attention to industrial education as they do to an academic education. The colored student should know how to use his hands as well as his arms. They are needed among colored Americans in all branches of trades. Just think of it, we haven't a colored registered plumber in this city. This branch of industry is controlled and monopolized by white men.

The colored student must get out of his head that all branches of education leads to a profession. There are ten millions of colored people in the United States who are subjected to the white man in all branches of industry, trades and professions.

There are white people in this country who are ready and willing to elevate the colored student in all branches of industry and the professions if he will help himself.

Mr. Honor's speech to the graduates may not have suited a few of those who were affected with that "grim monster" which has been the impediment of the race's success. He advocated industrial education as well as higher education. His advice was not wrong. He didn't underestimate higher education, and neither did he put too much stress on industrial education. He told the student what he must do, in life, to reach the diadem of success. Elsewhere in The Bee are excerpts from his eloquent address.

A PECULIAR PEOPLE.

There are some peculiar colored people in this country. This peculiar people seem to have more regard and respect for their enemies than they do for their friends. The man who abuses them is respected. The man who defends them they want removed. Every man has his enemies. Take for instance, Dr. Thirkield, the president of Howard University, who is being criticised because he does what he believes to be right and proper. If some one would ask what Dr. Thirkield had done to merit criticism no one could say. He has taken every opportunity to defend the colored American against attacks. He has done what no other man has done. The Bee believes that the president of Howard University will do the fair thing towards the colored people. He has shown his friendship for them in more ways than one. He has combated every attack made against them. What more can a man do?

THE TEACHERS' CONTEST.

This is the last week for the teachers' contest, and all friends for the contestants are requested to send in their votes by Tuesday evening of next week. In the current issue the names of the successful contestants will be announced. The voting up to the time of going to press has been quite lively. The Bee office is being stormed with votes of the favorites. The votes are in charge of Miss G. B. Maxfield who will inform you how the contestants stand and who will receive and count the votes.

One yearly subscriber will entitle you to 100 votes; six months' subscription will entitle you to 50 votes, and three months' subscription will entitle you to 25 votes.

Contestants may vote for their votes up to seven o'clock Saturday, July 2d.

SHAMS.

A news bureau of a local daily paper announced last Tuesday that the Republicans in the Eighth District of Virginia have declined to put a candidate in the field for Congress to run against H. C. Carlin, the Democrat, who has been nominated. It seems to be a useful gift on the part of the Republican administration to continue placing Democrats in office throughout the South. It is not helping the Republican party at all. The more Democrats you put in office the stronger the county or the State goes Democratic. Republican administrations ought to learn a lesson by now. What has the administration gained by turning out all Republicans in the South and appointing Democrats? The Bee doesn't blame the Democrats for taking all they can get.

CONTEST LIVELY.

The Bee feels highly elated over its first contest. All this week votes have been coming in thick and fast. The favorite contestants have been voted for with a vengeance. The Bee would like to publish the names of the voters but urgent requests have been made not to do so. Of course, the voters, no doubt, have their reasons, and they should be obeyed. The Bee wishes to announce that its next contest will be even greater than the present one.

This contest will close on the evening of July 7th at eight o'clock, and all successful contestants will be published in the issue of The Bee, July 9th. Votes will be received up to and including July 2d, until seven o'clock P. M.

JUDGE PUGH.

The Bee has maintained from the beginning that a Southern man on the bench of the police court would give better satisfaction, so far as the colored people are concerned, than a Northern man who doesn't know them. Judge James L. Pugh has thus far made a model police court judge. His every effort is to be fair and just with defendants. One of his first commendable acts was to remove the cage in which prisoners were placed. That ancient structure has been removed, and instead of having a bull cage in the police court, the prisoners are treated like human beings.

CAPTAIN OYSTER.

There has never been a fairer man and a more just one in public life, to all classes and nationalities, than Captain James F. Oyster. When he tendered his resignation as president of the Board of Education no greater surprise ever met the ears of the people. They know him, our teachers, regardless of color or condition, honor and appreciate him. Why would not the people miss him? Why would not the teachers in our schools feel his retirement as president of the Board of Education? Because he stands between the people and the enemies of the schools. Because he is never too busy to spend his own money and lose his own time to give a fair hearing to the complaints of teachers against tyranny. He believes in fair play, and it is the wish of the people and the teachers that his resignation be not accepted. The Times of last Sunday voices the feeling of the people. The sentiment of the Times is the sentiment of all people who believe in giving credit to a man who has sacrificed so much of his business for the people without hope of reward. The Bee voices the sentiment of the colored teachers and many thousands of colored parents whose children have been protected by him.

VOTE EARLY.

Voting closes Saturday evening, July 2d, at seven o'clock. Send your votes to the Voting Editor, Miss G. B. Maxfield.

Who is your favorite teacher? Vote for her now. Polls closed Saturday, July 2d, at seven o'clock.

Captain Oyster's Shoes Hard to Fill.

It will be difficult indeed to find a man who can properly fill the school board shoes to be left empty by Capt. James F. Oyster. By the same token, it is with sincere regret that the District of Columbia gives up the enjoyment of the excellent services of this worthy official. Captain Oyster has done much for the public schools of Washington, and it is unfortunate for them, for the rising generation, and for the welfare of the city generally that he feels he can no longer give his valuable time to the duties he has performed so faithfully and effectively in the past.

Men of Captain Oyster's integrity, clearness of vision, and vigor of right purpose are few and far between. The city has been fortunate in that he has given its public institutions and its general progressive affairs so much attention. Any lessening in his efforts toward the upbuilding of Washington and the things that make Washington what it is will be felt as a loss by all who keep abreast of the forward movement of the community.

In casting about for a successor to Captain Oyster on the school board those upon whom the responsibility of selection rests can do no better than to enlist the services of a man who measures up to him who is stepping out. The standard set by Captain Oyster is a mighty good standard to follow in choosing those who are to direct the affairs of our public schools.

Galbraith Church

The services at the Galbraith A. M. E. Z. Church on last Sunday, June 19, were largely attended. The offering for the day was $86. The attendance for the opening of the ninth year was larger than usual. The enthusiasm with which the members have taken hold of the work is remarkable.

Sunday, June 26, the pastor will deliver a special sermon at 11 a. m. on "The salvation and the building of the race." In the afternoon the Children's Day exercises will be held. Rev. W. V. Tunnell has been invited to deliver the principle address. Other characters of importance will appear on the programme. In the evening the pastor will speak on "Our future and race leadership."

OUR SCHOOLS.

The race must no longer expect others to carry its burdens. In this strictly commercial age, when men and nations are struggling to reach the top with all the ability, cunning and energy at their command, there is very little time for sentiment; and the weaker brother must develop strength or go to the wall.

The law of the survival of the fittest sounds harsh and cruel, but it is logical and just. The other race in this country has its own burdens; and we should not expect its members to assume those belonging to us that we ourselves should carry. A race is made strong by bearing its own burdens and solving its own great problems.

In the present generation we must lay the foundation for the character, wealth, culture and happiness of the generations that will follow. We must sow the seed of the morality and the purity that we would have them reap

In order to accomplish this we must have due regard for the sanctity of the home; we must guard our women with a zealous eye and give protection to them; for no race can rise higher than the moral tone of its women; and the women of every race must be protected by the men of that race.

We must exercise great care and sound judgment in the education of our children. We should study diligently their moral, physical and intellectual being, the strong and weak points in their character, their talents and their tastes. After thorough analysis of the child and careful study of his surroundings, we should seek to educate him along the lines best suited to the whole situation, himself and his station in life.

Whenever found that industrial education will develop the child to his highest point of usefulness in the world, industrial training should be given.

This form of education is the most practical for the masses of every race, and is especially adapted to the training of a race struggling with the disastrous effects of centuries of bondage, effects that can be counteracted only by centuries of the most careful and thorough training. No better foundation for the upbuilding of a race can be laid than that furnished by intelligent industrial work done by the masses; and no race can rise very high or remain up very long handicapped by millions of ignorant laboring people, half doing the work for which they receive pay.

It is essential to be educated in the industrial arts and science as it is to be trained along higher lines of thought. In the aggregation constituting the progress of a race there are many elements necessary to its successful development; and no element contributes more to the success of a race than the work of the great masses who must depend upon ordinary labor, the trades and domestic sciences for a livelihood. These classes form the bulwark of every race.

March 8, 1852, the lamented Douglass, the greatest man the race has yet produced, addressed a letter to Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, advocating and urging the establishment of an industrial college in the city of Rochester, New York, for members of his race, where they could be trained in the industrial arts and sciences.

This suggestion antedated, by many years, the birth of Hampton and Tuskegee, thus, while his race was yet chained as bondmen to the soil, the master mind of Douglass foresaw the vast possibilities this type of education opened up to his people. The wisdom of this sage pointed out the necessity for our boys to be able to build houses as well as to live in them; to construct bridges as well as cross them; to make shoes as well as to black them. He foresaw the need of an education that would find ready employment with ample remuneration in return for the service rendered.

The boy or girl of any race that starts in life with educated hands and an intelligent mind is almost certain to succeed, and, after all, success is the standard by which not only men but nations are measured.

The vast numbers of colored people living in the rural districts of the South as well as those residing in the large cities, must be reached through some educational channel best fitted for their intellectual and moral uplift along all lines of racial progress.

If we cannot educate a boy or girl in the arts and sciences, we may be able, through the channel of industrial training, to develop him or her into an industrious and useful citizen.

That industrial education in the past thirty years has exerted a marvellously uplifting influence in the progress of the colored race, there can be no doubt. Hampton and Tuskegee are beacon lights of progress for advancement of education among the colored people and will continue to be in the future, as they have been in the past, mighty factors in the progress of the race.

Industrial education should go hand in hand with higher education. Each type has a separate and distinct mission to perform, and both systems should operate in complete harmony, one with the other; but while thus operating together to accomplish the same general result, each system should at all times and under all conditions be kept within its respective sphere of usefulness.

They should not interfere with each other, neither should they antagonize each other. In this connection, however, let me say, the value of higher training as an essential element in the progress of a nation should not be minimized.

The one type of education is just as essential to the progress of a race as the other. It is as essential for a race to understand and be able to appreciate the art, science, language and literature of the different races of mankind as it is to be schooled in the

It must however be remembered that only a very small percentage of the most advanced races receive university training. When one possesses the right kind of brain material, no other training prepares him so well for the battle of life as that of college.

As the progress of a race will largely depend upon the education of the masses of the people, the training given should be as diversified as the character and development of the people demand. This does not, however, apply to any one race of mankind.

The principle is well illustrated in the educational system of the District of Columbia. The first schools here for white children were started in 1805. Two years later a school for free colored children was started. From the meager beginning of that time the system has gradually grown until to-day it stands in the front rank of the educational systems of the country.

During the past four years the improvement of the system has been marvellous, insanitary school houses are being rapidly replaced by larger and more commodious modern biuldings with ample facilities for playgrounds, and with accomodations for an army of 53,385 children trained by a force of more than 1500 teachers, whose educational training and ability is equal to the highest standard of any system of education in the country. This splendid system is maintained at an annual cost of more than two millions of dollars.

As the president of the Board of Education of the District Schools has truthfully said, "The best is none too good for our children." Little did our good president of the Board of Education think that he was uttering a phrase which would carry his name down to posterity and cause future generations to call him blessed.

Like our Anglo-Saxon brother, we must learn to appreciate the value of the dollar when honestly gained; and not only must we know how to make it and save it, but we must also learn how to invest it in such manner as it will be increasing in value all the time

We must learn successful modern business methods, the power of combination in the business world, the necessity of being able to create something the other fellow must have or to be able to do well something the other fellow wants done and is willing to pay for. We must establish more business schools among our people in order that they may thoroughly be trained along all business lines, this is indeed a branch of education which has been too long neglected among our people.

We must establish banks and conduct them successfully; build railroads, dig canals and open up new channels of commerce; open department stores in order that we may find employment for our boys and girls and train them along practical business lines.

Nor should we be unmindful of the fact that the social status of a race, like that of an individual, adjusts itself in conformity to the surrounding conditions. The social intercourse between our races or among members of the same race is not regulated by law, no statute making men socially equal ever has been in operation or ever will be. When men of the same race or of different races measure up to the accepted standard of honor, education and courtesy, the standard of the best all around development the question of eqaulity never arises

There is no reason why our Anglo-Saxon brother, being the stronger and more experienced, should refuse to give us his hand and help us to reach his plane; no reason why he should not be willing and ready to accord us every right to which we are entitled in law; no reason why we should not turn to him for guidance. Man is his brother's keeper, and every time he helps his brother to rise he mounts higher himself.

The Negro Business League of the District of Columbia tendered it's retiring president, Mr. W. Mr. Martin is a member of the league and went to especial pains to produce one of the most delightful bill of fares that he has served since he has been in his new quarters. IT IS THE NEW EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION

WASHINGTON IS THE SEAT OF OUR NATION'S GOVERNMENT.

The eyes of the world are on Washington..

One-third of Washington's population is Negro.

If all the Negroes in Washington were colonized in one place they would make a city larger than Richmond, Virginia.

There are seven theatres in Washington, supported by a white population of 241,923—and a few foolish Negroes willing to be colonized in the galleries, the only place to which the Negro is admitted.

THERE IS NOT A SINGLE FIRST-CLASS OFFICE BUILDING in the city of Washington, where a colored professional or business man or woman, and there are hundreds of them in the National Capital, can obtain business quarters.

JUST THINK OF IT! 100,000 enterprising, thrifty, intelligent people, through race prejudice, swept completely out of the business district of Washington; 100,000 genteel, prosperous, amusement loving people deprived of every form of theatrical entertainment unless willing to submit to the most humiliating conditions.

Every colored man and woman IN Washington.

Every colored man and woman VISITING Washington.

Every colored man and woman in America, familiar with the true state of the Negro in Washington, realizes that a theatre, store, and office building, operated by the Negroes, for the Negroes, is A NECESSITY.

The welfare of the race demands it.

The self-respect of the race demands it.

Any enterprise resting its hope of success upon a NECESSITY is bound to be a SUCCESS.

A THEATRE AND OFFICE BUILDING IN THE CITY OF WASHINGTON, built by Negroes, for the use of Negroes, is a NECESSITY.

Appreciating to the utmost that fact—

THE LINCOLN MEMORIAL BUILDING COMPANY proposes to erect in the Central Business District of the city of Washington a magnificent theatre, seating capacity 2,500, and a store and office building of splendid proportion, adequate in every respect to meet the requirements of prosperous professional and business men.

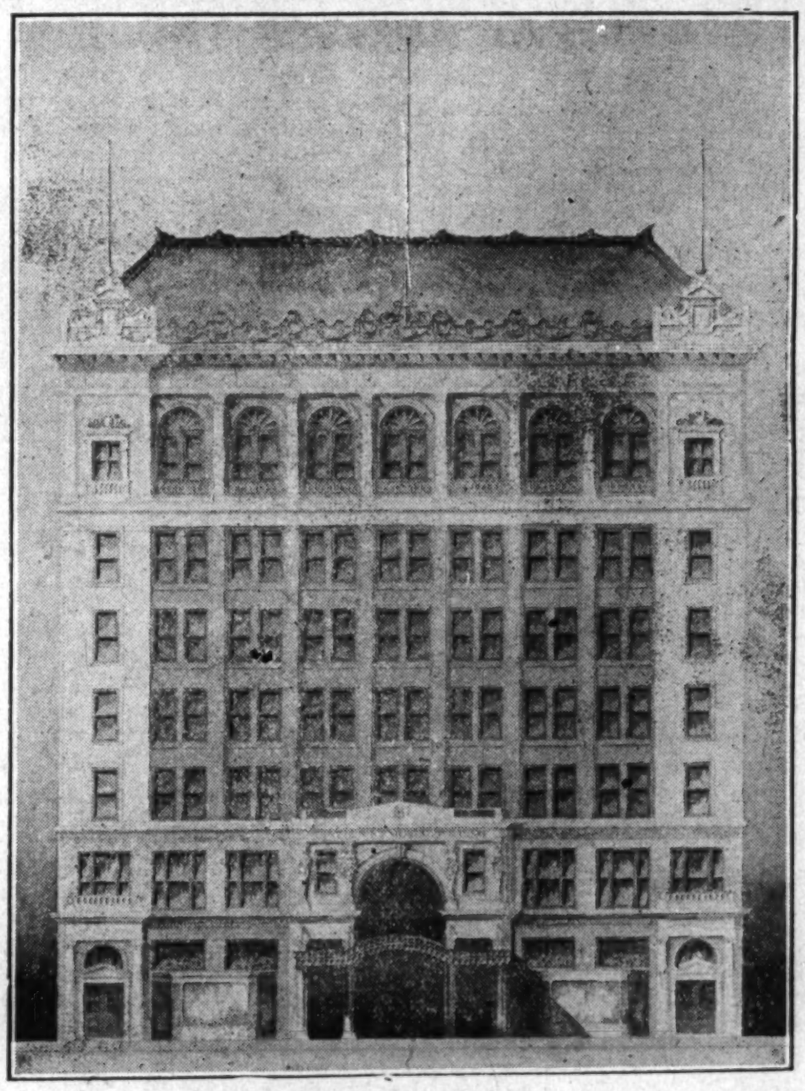
The enterprise is exceptional in two respects:

First—It is absolutely safe.

Second—It promises enormous possibilities as a money maker.

Features that must appeal to every man or woman with a few dollars to invest, and you are such a man or woman or you would not have read this far.

THE LINCOLN MEMORIAL BUILDING COMPANY has surveyed the field carefully, and it KNOWS that hundreds of tenants are available for the offices, that dozens of merchants are ready to rent the stores, and that 100,000 people are anxious to patronize the theatre exclusively, and make it the best paying amusement place in America.



Proposed Front Elevation
LINCOLN MEMORIAL OFFICE AND THEATRE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D. C.

IT KNOWS ALL THIS AND IT INVITES YOU TO PARTICIPATE in an enterprise ABSOLUTELY DEVOID OF RISK, where every dollar will be invested in the best of Washington Real Estate, that increases in value annually at the rate of 5⅝ per cent—nearly DOUBLE bank interest.

Even that is good enough for most people, but the LINCOLN MEMORIAL BUILDING COMPANY will do better than that. It will have offices and stores and lodge rooms, which will earn, on a conservative estimate, at least $23,200 per year. Equal to 5 9-10 per cent per annum.

It will also have a theatre, which, if patronized at prices ranging from 10 to 50 cents, by only 1 per cent of the total colored population of the city of Washington, will enable the Company to pay 15 per cent on its total capitalization. Equal in all to 20 9-10 per cent, to which may be added the land value increase of 5⅝ per cent.

Now, all this is Conservatively Estimated.

Banks and Insurance Companies engage in enterprises like this with their depositors' and policyholders' money—YOUR money, but YOU get only about 3 or 3½ per cent. The banks or insurance companies keep the balance.

THE LINCOLN MEMORIAL BUILDING COMPANY is ENTIRELY NEGRO.

Not one dollar of white capital will be accepted in exchange for its securities.

There is not one dollar of Promotion Stock, consequently there is no watered stock.

Every holder of stock from the President down must pay at LEAST $10.00 per share for every share of stock allotted to him.

This does not mean that the price of stock will REMAIN at $10.00 per share. It is $20.00 NOW. It will advance in price far beyond $10.00, just as railroad and public utility stock goes to several times par. So will the Lincoln Memorial Building Company's stock go to several times its present value.

This means that a share of stock costing $10.00 NOW will be worth $40.00 when stock goes to four times par. Estimates show that the Company's earnings will be 20 per cent, and that is four times par, with every dollar invested in Real Estate. THE BEST in the city of Washington, where values are as firmly fixed as the Rock of Gibraltar.

This does not mean that the price of stock will remain at $10.00 per share. It is $10.00 NOW. If the Company, as it is estimated, pays 20 per cent, a $10.00 share of stock will be worth $40.00. If it pays 40 per cent, a single share of $10.00 stock will be worth $80.00. Just as railroads and public utility stocks increase in value, so will the Lincoln Memorial Building Company's stock increase in price.

The first allotment of stock at $10.00 a share is being rapidly subscribed, and the next allotment will be $12.50 per share, to which point it will soon be advanced; therefore, you are urged to avail yourself of the present opportunity to get in as completely on the ground floor as any one of the Company's Directors are.

The Company's Directors, by the way, are men of sterling worth, integrity and honor, as you are possibly aware, or can easily ascertain through any COMMERCIAL AGENCY.

Their names are at the top of this page. They have unbounded faith in the future of the Company. They have invested THEIR hard earned money in it, and they advise you to invest YOUR money side by side with theirs.

DON'T WAIT UNTIL IT IS TOO LATE.

The price of stock is $10.00 per share, payable $1.00 down and $1.00 per month for nine months upon each share subscribed for.

DO IT NOW.

Before you lay this paper down cut out the coupon on the lefthand corner of this page and mail to-day, with remittance for first payment, if for but one share of stock.

We shall be glad at all times to give you any further information desired, and again invite you to join us in this enterprise.

Very truly yours,

LINCOLN MEMORIAL BUILDING COMPANY,

RETREGRADING

The opinion of thoughtful colored men and women upon the question as to whether the race is advancing or retrograding and to what degree of rapidity in either direction is very much divided Some claim that retregration in a young race as it were, is against every known law, social and moral. They point to the Germanic, Slavonic, Scandinavian and Celtic races which are comparatively young as evidences of fact, and more especially to the American race, though the youngest and as yet formative, notwithstanding with certain definite characteristics. These races express what they call the law of progress. They go even farther and maintain that the law of progress is universal and applies to all races, young and old. They refer us to the Mongolian race, a very old race, which while its advancement during the past centuries, has been slow, but inevitable, the law of progress is only emphasized in the marvelous growth of Japan and the awakening of China. On the other hand, there are who contend that while admitting the progress of these races during the past century or so, as well as the operation, the law of progress under certain conditions, they affirm that not until there was practical homogeneity in the races referred to, was there any progress whatever. Indeed they contend that prior to this latter condition there was certain and marked retrogression and that the Dark Ages furnish us with the proof of their contention. In determining the condition of the colored race in this country, there opposing opinions are applied. The optimistic philosopher refers to the marvelous advancement of the race in a moral, educational and material way, his adaptability and rapid adjustment to the most approved social conditions and especially his ability to organize for purposes of mutual protection and advancement, as a strong proof the progress of the race, not to speak of the growing tendency toward amalgamation, which eventuates in homogeneity. On the other hand, the conservative philosopher sees retrogression in the race. He contends that the morality and education referred to are merely superficial or imitative and points to the great paucity of moral and educational productions written by the colored race, and affirms that the barber, waiter, or favorite valet makes more money than the average farmer, school teacher, or preacher, and that our material prosperity is in the main but an expression of individual and manhood abandonment. The inability on the part of the race to maintain the political rights of which they were in full possession for several years and which the exercise of moderate good judgment, tolerable diplomacy and common sense would certainly have perpetuated, is pointed out as another evidence of the "going back" of the race. This latter philosopher admits that the race possesses millions of dollars in real and personal property, churches, schools and colleges without number, and that through the means of systematic begging from the whites and extortion we cut a smart figure. But he maintains that progress, in the proper sense, does not mean merely the ability to supply the inner man and to clothe and house the outer, though these are necessary incidents. Progress means not only the capacity to write books, build bridges, railroads, stemships, construct philosophies, but the act of producing the actual, tangible book, bridge, etc. It means that to prove ourselves as men we must be men in fact, commanding political rights in the act of exercising them. Our inability in these respects, the unfavoring philosopher shows that we are not progressing. "Where are our friends and their children and grandchildren?" Has the faith of pride of the children and grandchildren in their noble ancestry departed? Why are we now deserted? Our philosopher replies, "because we have been going backward instead of forward; because we have sold our birthright, bought at so inestimable a cost, for a few small loaves and fishes, a pot of devil's broth and an abject willingness to be treated as a social, political and civil nonentity." Our insistent critic cites a commonplace incident in order to show to what extent we are not progressing. "Not long since a colored man came to this city with a show. He came because he had an educated horse to exhibit, the principal attraction. He came under a contract whereby he was to receive a goodly sum for each day's performances, one which seemed a trifle steep, considering the parties to the contract. But the fact is that the horse is truly remarkable for his intelligence and marvelous tricks. His training was not of the ordinary sort, by which almost any horse could be taught, as by consecutive suggestion; but this animal possessed the endowments of calculation, analysis, and differentiation. In fact the horse was a wonder. After a week, the manager, unwilling to give the colored man the wages agreed upon, offered to purchase the horse. On being refused, the manager broke the contract, and left the trainer and his horse without employment. The trainer went from one theater to another, the managers of which stoutly refusing to engage him and his valuable horse. At last he was compelled to enter into a contract with a white man, who readily found an engagement with the management of one of our largest vaudeville theaters, on splendid terms, the trainer and owner of the animal, however, being compelled to take an unconscionably small amount as his share. And this on what condition, do you think? It was on condition that the trainer dress himself like a "plantation darkey" and submit to being called "Uncle Remus," which condition the poor old trainer, under the circumstances, was compelled to accept. When the horse and trainer appeared the first night the audience was in great expectancy and prepared to witness wonderful feats. The trainer appeared on the stage dressed in ante-bellum habit, the veritable picture of "Uncle Remus." He walked up to his precious friend and sought to induce him to show the audience how smart he was. But the frightened horse would do nothing but kick and stare, as much as to say, "What do you take me for? Do you think that I will act for a back-number like you? My friend represents the present, not the past. My friend and master, or no business" Whereupon the habiliments of "Uncle Remus" were removed and the horse, finding that he was with his real master, proceeded to perform in the most wonderful manner, to the surprise, pleasure and applause of the whole audience. What do you think of that? An intelligent colored man could not even exhibit his horse before a white audience in this city unless he consented to represent himself as a "plantation darkey." Are we going forward or are we being driven backward? Thus considering the progressionists and retrogressionists, the horse and trainer and the white people, we will pass the matter up to our more discriminating reader for a correct answer.

A LOYAL PEOPLE

I noticed in looking over the news of my native town of which about nine thousand are white and three thousand are colored, that the only ones who marched to the national cemetery to decorate the graves of the Union soldiers were colored. And I said thank God my people are a loyal, grateful people who can never forget a good deed in the midst of lilly whiteism, Jim Crowism and race discrimination. East, West, North and South, we are true to our trust and we stand by our friends whether they be Northern Yankees, Southern Confederates or just plain friends. And I hope and trust that whatever differences between the races that time will bring forth, that we as a race will never forget to honor the memory of the brave old boys in blue who fought, bled and died that we might taste the blessed fruits of liberty.

THE BOYS WHO FOUGHT FOR US

They're getting old, those boys in blue who once marched so gay,
Though some of them are counted young, their heads are getting gray;
They're marching over, one by one, to the last long bugle call
And our hearts go out to the brave old boys,
For we love them, one and all.

They're growing scarce, those boys in blue who answered Lincoln's call,
Who swore by the power of their good right arm, this nation should not fall,
Who bravely left their peaceful homes to die midst the cannon ball,
That the cause of freedom might be won though the nation bathed in gore.

They're leaving us, those boys in blue who fought for you and me
Who mowed down the ranks of the Southern boys that the black man might be free;
Our hearts go out in sympathy to their dear ones left behind,
In thought, in word or deed, we'll try to be so good, so kind.

There are countless graves of the boys in blue who fought to make us free,
That there might be an open door of hope for you and me;
Our hearts go out to the brave old boys who answered Lincoln's call
We wish them joy and happiness for we love them one and all.

—James Conway Jackson.

G. U. O. OF O. F. OF THE DISTRICT.

Majority of Delegates to 15th B. M. C. Has Not Endorsed Anyone for Office or the Administration of the S. C. M.

The publication which has appeared in the columns of the Philadelphia Tribune and Atlanta Independent last week that the delegates elected to represent the District Lodges in the 15th B. M. C., which meets in the city of Baltimore, Md., September next, had met and endorsed the administration of the S. C. M. and certain members of the order for national grand officers is untrue and intended to mislead the delegates in other sections of the country, as the following will show.

Having been shown the article published on the first page of the Philadelphia Tribune, of June 18th, under the caption "Odd Fellows at Washington, D. C., name their ticket, endorse the administration of Grand Master Houston, praise Grand Secretary Jas. F. Needham and pledge him their support and select a new editor, Henry P. Slaughter named for the place," we, the undersigned, delegates and alternate, elected to represent D. C. lodges in the Fifteenth B. M. C. were present at the meeting of delegates referred to in said article, and therefore, in the interest of simply truth and justice, we, unqualifiedly state that a majority of the D. C. delegation have not "named their ticket; have not indorsed "the administration of Grand Master Houston;" have not "praised Secretary Needham and pledged him their support;" have not "selected a new editor;" and have not "named Henry P. Slaughter for the place."

A blanket resolution embodying all these things and indorsing H. H. Norris for third term as Grand Master was offered, and a vote for adoption was as follows: Thirteen for adoption; eight against it; eight not voting for or against it: one absent. Total number of lodges, thirty.

To remain silent and not refute, through the press the material statements in the article, would be to stamp us as sadly wanting in those qualities which are recognized as the essence of Odd Fellowship, and we would be unpardonably guilty of violating the confidence in us reposed as representatives in the Fifteenth B. M. C.

John E. McGau, President and Gen'l Manager.

Joseph Peake, Secretary and Treas.

As a matter of fact, most of the delegates who declined to vote either for or against the resolutions, as well as some who supported them, have since learned their real object and scope and now openly declare they are not only strongly opposed to their adoption, but will hereafter oppose any measure or thing presented with the view of carrying said resolutions into effect. The G. U. O. of O. F. is not a "one man" order, and it is believed that the two or three persons, who seek to form a fraternal official trust or close corporation at the expense of the order, will be given an indefinite leave of official absence without pay by the delegates from the various sections of the country when they assemble in Baltimore, September next.

Young Men's Industrial Club

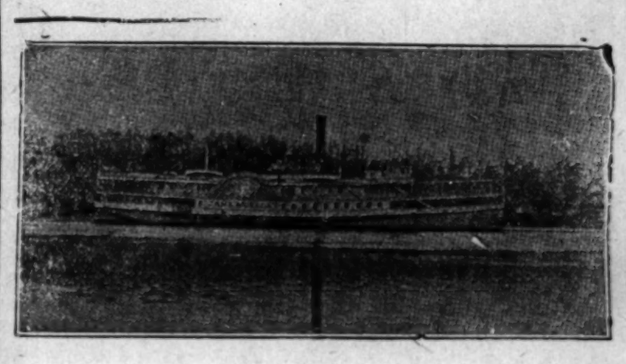
To my friends and the public in general:

It is with pleasure that I take this opportunity to inform you that the books of the Independent Steamboat and Barge Company are now open for charters for Excursions during the coming season, and it will be to your interest to call at once and secure the most desirable dates.

Our terms are most liberal andcharters can be made for Washington Park and Somerset Beach

To which place we have the exclusive excursion rights as well as Mathias Point, Rock Point, Norfolk, White City, Richmond, Baltimore and all points on the Potomac River and Chesapeake Bay

Our facilities for chartering parties are unsurpassed in every respect. Our large covered wharf (used exclusively for our excursion business) enables us to give you most modern and up-to-date service. No crowding, no exposure and our schedule between Washington and Washington Park does away with the long and tiresome waiting for the steamers.



Before the construction of Washington Park absolutely no place of recreation was affordedthe people of our race, and I proudly point to the fact that I have fulfilled the demands of the people in every respect.

You have one of the best and most modernly improved resorts in this part of the country.Washington Park with its myriads of electric lights, mammoth scenic railway, huge carrousel, dance hall and numerous smaller amusement devices is surpassed in point of natural beauty and modern equipment by no resort south of New York.

By perseverance and an enormous cash outlay I have done this, and now I ask you to show me that I have your hearty support by calling at once and making charters for the coming season.

Yours for pleasuure and comfort,
Lewis Jefferson. 1910 First Street, S. W.
